

Maya Chivi

Child & Youth Development Specialist

---

Disclaimer

Maya Chivi offers practical advice regarding the behavior patterns of the child(ren) within your family unit. Please be advised that Maya Chivi is not staffed with licensed therapists nor does she or her employees have approved psychology or other therapy training. The tips and advice offered at this site, including, without limitation, any advice on disciplining your child(ren), is undertaken at your sole discretion. Should you decide to follow all or any part of the advice provided at this site or from any of Maya Chivi's services, including, but not limited to, seminars, workshops, blogs, parent consults, or should you require your child(ren) to follow any instructions provided at this site, you and they do so entirely at your own risk, and by voluntarily undertaking such risk, you hereby release Maya Chivi, her agents, employees, and/or employers from any and all claims, actions, damages, obligations or liabilities based upon any acts or omissions in connection with the advice provided herein. We make no promises or guarantees regarding the outcome of the situation for which you have sought our advice.